Sherwood Forest Board Welcomes New Directors

At its December 12 meeting, members of the Sherwood Forest Association Board of Directors voted unanimously to add two new directors to the board. Maurice Telesford will assume responsibility for organizing social and cultural events. He replaces Dan Clarkson. Rollin Henderson has agreed to take up the mantle of Treasurer, stepping into the shoes of longtime Treasurer Sue McMillan who, after many years of keeping our association solvent, will work closely with Board member Luther Bradley to increase membership in both the association and the patrol. The board is grateful for the dedication of the new members and that of all of our directors who spend many hours working to help Sherwood Forest remain a neighborhood where families can live, grow and prosper.

Let It Snow, Let It Snow, Let It Snow

Remember that your Sherwood Forest Association dues pay for street snow removal whenever there is a snowfall of four inches or more. We ask that residents not leave vehicles parked on the street when snow is expected. Curb-to-curb snow removal cannot be accomplished when there are vehicles parked on the street. As a service to residents, we try to notify all email subscribers in advance once we estimate when our snow removal contractor will be working in the neighborhood. Please remember that our contractor will not remove snow from the end of your driveway after he clears your street. That is a service that the Association does not pay for, and we want to remind residents not to ask the snowplow drivers to provide it.

In fact, the reality of impending snowfalls and the conditions created by icy precipitation provide opportunities for neighborhood entrepreneurs to earn cash. If you are available to shovel walks or remove snow banks at the end of driveways after our streets are plowed, please submit your name and contact information to editor@sherwoodforestdetroit.org. We will make that information available to residents.

2011 – A Year of Hope Amid Challenges

A Year-end Report By Kim Tandy, President, Sherwood Forest Board of Directors

Dear Sherwood Forest Community:

As another year nears its close, it is appropriate that we look back at 2011 to plot a course for the New Year.

Our community continues to use the skills and talents of its residents to make certain that Sherwood Forest remains a beautifully vibrant neighborhood. Even though the national foreclosure crisis resulted in additional vacant homes in Sherwood Forest, the number of empty houses is down. What is more, neighbors continue to maintain the exteriors of these homes so that it is not readily apparent that no one resides in them. In most cases, we have been able to persuade banks not to board these homes. Consequently, our community has avoided the desolate appearance we see in so many Detroit neighborhoods. What is more, we have been able to continue using funds from the small but helpful grant we received from Community Legal Resources to maintain vacant properties.

Prospective buyers continue to view the purchase of a Sherwood Forest home as a unique opportunity to live in an environment where neighbors care for property and each other. These new neighbors are working to refurbish their homes and repair damage caused by the vacancies. We wish them well as they take on the hard work of restoration and renovation.

Most of us agree, as well, that in spite of the still too low home values in our community, our efforts to keep our neighborhood attractive have served us well and helped stabilize values.

Some events and actions are noteworthy:

- Mayor Dave Bing named Sherwood Forest one of several neighborhoods slated to receive special attention by city departments as a part of the Detroit Works Project.
- University Commons, the coalition of neighborhoods and business districts I lead, continues its efforts to revitalize the Livernois business strip. Plans are in the works to upgrade the facades of businesses in one block with proposals to improve the fronts of the remaining businesses as funds from other improvement grants become available.
- We have added new names to our board's roster of directors. The willingness of our neighbors to dedicate time and talents to the work of building and maintaining a thriving community supports my belief that there are few nicer places to live than Sherwood Forest.
- It is common to have 100 or more neighbors attend our annual meetings as a show of support for our programs and policies. Such is the dedication of our residents.
- We are renewing our efforts to increase membership in the Sherwood Forest Association and Patrol through a campaign involving our block captains. My thanks to those who regularly support our efforts through their membership in both organizations.
- During the past spring neighbors joined forces to spruce up our passive parks and to rake leaves and trim shrubbery at vacant houses. These are annual tasks that the Sherwood Forest community considers its civic responsibility.

As we slip into 2012, we are reminded that this is a time beset by uncertainty. But an unambiguous truth is that few other communities possess the stamina, embodied in the people who live here, to withstand the challenges of residing in a city fighting for solvency. The payoff is measured in sustainability fueled by personal and neighborhood pride. I remain convinced that relentless hard work will result in significant dividends for our community. Therefore, my hope is that peace, health and prosperity will be constants in your homes and that you and your families experience immeasurable joy this holiday season.

With much appreciation,

Kim Tandy

About the production:

Dogman's Last Stand, written by Golden Globe and Emmy Award-winning writer Rick Cleveland tells the story of Dogman Thompson, a laid off factory worker with a murky past. Living in a Midwestern steel town, Dogman must defend the honor of his canine companion after a run-in with a local punk and paperboy, Danny Pascol. Set in a gritty town with even grittier characters, the situations that unfold on Dog's front porch reveal the fact that assumptions can often determine and define the events of our lives.

The drama is directed by David L. Regal. Dogman's Last Stand will run 6 performances at the Marygrove Theatre: February 3, 4, 5, 10, 11 and 12, 2012. The show contains intense adult language and is recommended for individuals over 16.

Most City of Detroit offices will be closed from December 22 through January 3, 2012. City offices will reopen on Wednesday, Jan. 4.

In addition, the Department of Public Works will NOT collect refuse and recycling on Monday, Dec. 26 and Monday, Jan. 2. During both weeks, DPW crews will collect refuse and recycling one day later. Monday's collection will be picked up on Tuesday, and Tuesday's collection will take place on Wednesday and so forth. This means that collection day in Sherwood Forest will be Friday during those weeks.

Detroit residents can place their Christmas trees out for collection on their weekly trash collection day during the entire month of January. Residents should place the tree near their Courville container no more than 24 hours before the scheduled pickup.

Palmer Woods Association Presents Music Series

Eight concerts representing eight opportunities to experience world-class musical presentations make up Palmer Woods' 2011-2012 music series. Every month, from December through June of 2012, spectacular artists from the worlds of jazz, classical and ethnic music will perform in Palmer's architectural treasures providing unmatched entertainment a stone's throw from our homes. Each concert includes a reception with wine and hors d'oeuvre, dinner served during the intermission and a dessert buffet after the concert.

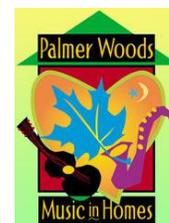

The December 17 concert, first in the series, featured homegrown diva and vocalist Miche (pronounced Mickey) Braden accompanied by internationally acclaimed keyboardist Gerard Gibbs, Guitarist Spencer Barefield and Jeff Pedraz on bass. Gibbs, who came of age in Sherwood Forest, attended school in Detroit graduating from Cass Technical High School and the University of Michigan. An architect by training, his classical music preparation makes him a draw on local, national and international stages. Barefield is a widely admired musician and writer who regularly plays with jazz greats and lives in Palmer Woods. He and his wife, Barbara, are organizers of the series. Information about and tickets for this season's concerts, can be accessed by clicking below, where indicated:

Street Lighting Still an Issue in Our Subdivision

In spite of improvements in some spots within our neighborhood, residents are still reporting a kind of roving lighting scheme where streets may be lit for as much as a week and are then in darkness for unspecified lengths of time. It is impossible to determine when a street will be without lights. Because of the sporadic nature of the lighting, neighbors are asked to use their porch lights as a way to provide additional security. Because it becomes dark by 5:30 p.m. in the winter, criminals have an increased number of hours to find their way to vulnerable homes, unnoticed.

Dog Walkers Are Critical Partners in Neighborhood Watch Programs

We want every Sherwood Forest resident to be alert to unusual and suspicious activity in our neighborhood and notify our patrol and the police. However, neighbors who walk their dogs several times a day are uniquely positioned to notice behavior that may be associated with criminal pursuits. Because our canine-loving neighbors are outside more than others, we ask that they tune in to irregularities along their routes and call the appropriate parties.

Communities across the country are using the assistance of runners, walkers, dog walkers and other citizens to help reduce crime in their neighborhoods. During these times of joblessness, decreased pay and fewer police officers, even communities with private security patrols must use every available resource to make certain that they don't become targets for criminal enterprise.

So while you are participating in your daily exercise program or taking Fido for his walk, keep your cell phone handy and dial 911 if anything looks fishy. ²

Neighbor to Neighbor

This column has been added to the Tattler because, occasionally, we are asked to publicize events of interest to Sherwood Forest residents. We continue to refrain from including commercial advertising for products or services offered to the general public. However, we will use this space to advise Sherwood Forest residents of a garage sale, house sale or other event we judge to be planned by a neighbor for the benefit of other Sherwood Forest neighbors. The Tattler will not publicize events or services the board believes are not in the best interests of our community.

Our neighbor Don Josaitis, husband of the late Eleanor Josaitis has notified us that he is moving and offering several pieces of furniture for sale. Sherwood Forest residents may call him at (313) 863-9662 for more information.
